\*Coaching packages are non-refundable. I commit to being present with you and to bringing my best high-flame coaching to our work together. You commit to being coachable and wanting more from your life. We commit to being honest with one another and not holding anything back. You will have access to me via email, text, and Facebook Messenger between coaching sessions. While I cannot guarantee success, I do guarantee that you will get out of this experience at least as much as you put into it.***

Payments can be made via PocketSuite (client incurs a fee of 3%) or check/cash (received by the first scheduled appointment of the month with no additional fee). Any fees charged for insufficient funds will be forwarded to the client. Payment must be made for coaching sessions to occur. No payment received means no coaching for the month until the payment is received.
